

Librería
Bonilla y Asociados
desde 1950

Título:

Autor:

Precio: $1350.00

Editorial:

Año: 2004

Tema:

Edición: 2ª

Sinopsis

ISBN: 9780849316739

This new edition of a best-selling text in food product development provides a comprehensive overview of the new food product development process. Stages of development are described in detail, beginning with sources of ideas, then moving through development, final screening, and introduction into the marketplace. With extensive experience in new food product development, the author outlines ways a company can organize for new product development and utilize available resources. He focuses on the roles, functions, and interactions of the members of the food product development team as well as other company departments and outside resources in the food product development process.

Contents.

An Introduction to New Food Products and Their Development. Getting Ideas for New Food Products. Organizing for New Food Product Development. The Strategists: Their Impact on Product Development. The Tacticians: How they influence Product Development. The Support Group: Their Influence on Screening in the Product Development Process. The Final Screening: Introduction to the Marketplace. Using Outside Resources for New Food Product Development. New Food Product Development in the Food Service Industry. New Food Product Development in the Food Ingredient Industry. What I have Learned so Far.