More than a simple building, Studio Fuksas explores the creation of a new landscape and new geography for the employees of Ferrari. Water, bamboo, ecological materials, and the incorporation of bio-techniques enrich the work space, removing it from the typical and mundane, and turning it into a pleasant and diaphanous atmosphere for working. This monograph opens the building, not only revealing the building through vivid photography, but also allows readers to gain access to the design concerns and process of the architect.
