"Transboundary Policy Challenges" responds to a growing interest in borderlands environmental policy by highlighting significant transboundary research & practices being undertaken within & across the Pacific border regions of North America. Growing concern about the seriousness of environmental problems, particularly in high-growth border areas, coupled with the rising awareness of the complexities entailed in wise development decisions, has spurred recognition that new realities require new responses. Critical for effective environmental protection, restoration, & education is a sharing of understanding & effort across borders. "Transboundary Policy Challenges" advances transborder environmental research & discusses sensible policy directions with particular focus on critical areas of international concern & engagement: land & water use planning. regional growth management. trade & transportation corridors. environmental education. & travel & tourism. Contributors to the volume represent a range of disciplines, as well as institutions in Canada, the United States, & Mexico.
