Completing Your Qualitative Dissertation fills an important gap in the qualitative research literature by addressing the challenges facing doctoral students-specifically the difficulties encountered in trying to complete a dissertation. Authors Linda Dale Bloomberg and Marie Volpe distill years of experience into a first-of-its-kind, highly practical reference for graduate students. This book is a dissertation in action, an explanation and illustration of content and process. At the heart of the book is a series of chapters that model the typical progression of dissertation chapters. The authors illustrate each chapter by using an exemplar that gives the reader an understanding of what the actual write-up of a dissertation would look like.

Completing Your Qualitative Dissertation is a must-have resource for any student contemplating a qualitative research project, thesis, or dissertation. It is also a valuable tool for researchers undertaking and writing up their qualitative research.
